Said In Cypress

That if you are riding on the PE's red car and wish to alight at the Juanita crossing, you get off when the hear the conductor call "Shirley." Who knows why? Add to Cypress streets named for its honored women that of Juanita, which is Mrs. Job Denni's first name.

That Em, En, Stet, Pica, Agate, Hed, Cap, Nonpareil, 6-point and Italics are outgrowing their nursery quarters in a portable wash tub with an electric light bulb to keep them warm. As you have probably guessed, these could only be chix belonging to a newspaper family. They were obtained free at Central Feed store, and will probably have to be given away when big enough for fryers, because no one will have the heart to wring their necks.

That our attention will now be centered on Heidi, who is "doxieticipating," and will probably oblige some time in the deep, dark hours of the night when help and vets are far away. Readers must know by now that ours is no ordinary dog, and if there's a hard way to do anything, that's for her.

That during the war the medical department preferred using a report of nasopharyngitis to that of influenze because the latter was considered epidemic in form and subject to report to higher headquarters, when cases exceeded a given number. We just suffered our first siege of it in many years and can report you feel awful, no matter what you call it.

So we advertise our town as a "friendly zone to build your home," and the news report goes out all over the western states and no telling where else that while your neighbor uses her phone, your house burns to the ground. Persons who have ever used the line under false pretenses are just as guilty as the two women who thought the alarm a false one. It's the old story of the boy who cried "wolf," and frankly, we didn't like the publicity it brought to Cypress. By everyone's admission, it's a circumstance which is repeated over and over again wherever there are party lines and attempts to use the phone to call the doctor or the fire department. Alert news reporting caught us the horrible example.

Red Cross Drive Now Underway

Mrs. T. J. Purdy, local chairman, has announced that volunteers are now soliciting memberships for the American Red Cross in a drive which began this week.

Mrs. Leo Smith and Mrs. Virginia Sedia were reported as two new volunteers as the drive began. Miss Elizabeth Dickerson, school superintendent, is in charge of the funds received there.

Haskell Kelley, soliciting in the business district, reports a satisfactory response.

FFA Awards Given; Local Boys Excel

An awards banquet for members of the Future Farmers of America organization in Anaheim Union High school last Thursday evening found many top honors going to local students or boys active in Cypress youth activities. Awards were presented on a five point basis: class work, shop work, home projects, outside activity and FFA activities.

John Iwashita was first, Bill Teague third and Stanley Spicer fourth as point award winners.

Watch fobs were given Albert Alponte, first and Art Teague, third.

Dairy project winners were Monte Zeibel first, Benny Thornton second, and Hubert Berberia third, while Kennon Laird received a first for hogs. Louie Stephens won second in beef projects.

Andy Johnson won the award in field crops and John Iwashita a second for rabbits. Robert Van Dyke placed first in dairy and was one of a three-way tie in the beef project. Stanley Spicer was Judged third in upper class rabbit competition.

Film and Talk Feature P-T.A. Meeting Mar. 9

The regular meeting of the Cypress elementary school P-T.A. will be held Thursday evening, March 9, in the school auditorium at 7:30 o'clock.

The county superintendent of schools' office has arranged for a talk entitled "No Two Alike," which will be given by Mr. Saucerman.

A film, "Life With Baby," will also be shown.

DENY PERMIT HERE FOR WRECKING YARD

County planning commissioners refused approval plans of M. A. Roberson to establish an auto wrecking yard at Belmont St. and Crescent Ave.

Postponed for a week, a decision was reached following protests of 40 property owners and the Cypress Chamber of Commerce, it was reported.

Meeting Proves Inspirational; Nazarene Group

Declared by the Rev. W. D. Howard to be one of the largest and best meetings held, teachers and officers of the Cypress Church of the Nazarene met Tuesday evening for a fellowship dinner.

Twenty-four were present at the meeting which followed to hear Mr. Howard, pastor, present an outline of the Sunday school's accmplishments during the past year. Figures showed an increase in average attendance during 1949 to 197, or 35 over the previous year.

Plans for the future included a daily vacation Bible school to be held in June and plans for sending boys and girls to summer camps at Idyllwild.

The Rev. Lyle Potter of the South Gate church, guest speaker, discussed "Win Your Neighbor During March," inaugurating a program for the church of "Forward March Through March."

Central Feed Store Changes Ownership

John Renema, of Bellflower, has purchased the Central Feed store business at 4882 Lincoln Ave., from K .D. Tillema.

Mr. and Mrs. Renema were formerly Cypress residents, being partners in a dairy at Walker and Orange with Pete Brunsma. They lived there three years before moving to Bellflower last July.

Leonard Vos will continue to assist at the feed store, and Renema states that they will carry on with the same high standard of service as has been available in the past.

The Tillema family will remain for the present in their home next to the business, and no definite plans are announced for the future. Mr. and Mrs. Renema expect to move here from Bellflower later. They have no children.

Two Cypress Firms Have Anniversaries

Two Cypress firms are celebrating anniversaries this week with big sales. They are the M & H Market, 5511 Lincoln, and "C" Thompson's 5 & 10, 5951 Lincoln.

M & H Market is beginning its fifth year in Cypress, having grown considerably since its start here four years ago. Manager Dick Hathcock has arranged many added features for his weekend sale, among them the famous Aunt Jemima serving her famous pancakes, and also, free coffee and frozen orange juice. The sale will be on Friday and Saturday.

Out at the corner of Miller Rd. and Lincoln Ave., "C" Thompson's 5 & 10 variety store will celebrate its first year of operation in Cypress this weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. "C" have built up a complete stock in the year they have been there, and for the anniversary sale, have made several sizeable price reductions.

For details about the sales of these firms, refer to pages 4 and 5 for M & H market's ad, and page 8 for "C" Thompson's.

Guests Present Special Skit For Baptists

The Associational Mission study chairman, Mrs. Weaver of Los Angeles, presented a skit at the meeting Friday afternoon of the Baptist Women's Foreign missionary society. She is the wife of the pastor of the Centinella church, and was accompanied by five members of her group who assisted in the playlet. Based on the book, "Prophet of Little Cane Creek,' the lesson proved to be very interesting and entertaining.

Members enjoyed a covered dish luncheon prior to the meeting, with Mrs. Ruby Stinson acting as hostess. Others present were Mmes. Peggy Stillwell and Jimmie, Edna Kilcoyne with Beverly, Sharon and Timothy, and Kay Davis, Alice Stowers, Martha Warman and Mrs. Belle Stinebaugh and Mrs. Lillian McKenzie, guests from Buena Park. Also present were the Rev. W. V. Buckner and the Rev. Mr. Kilcoyne.

CHAMBER MEETING MWD TOPIC DRAWS NUMEROUS QUESTIONS

Questions which bombarded the two speakers at the Cypress Chamber of Commerce meeting Monday night indicated that local residents are divided in their opinions of the desirability of securing Metropolitan water for Cypress.

Glen Allen, Orange city councilman, and Roy Browning, engineer, spoke for the five cities who have organized for the purpose of securing MWD water. Browning is the hired engineer for the group and has done considerable research on the added tax burden per individual if water is secured, besides studying the actual need of this area as far as reserve water is concerned.

The problem now confronting the group trying to get MWD water is that of defining the boundaries of the proposed district. Groups who have actually made their stand official and said they were in favor of joining are Buena Park, Sloan Mutual Water company, Garden Grove water works district and the Westminster area water works district.

Many Queries

During the period allowed for answering questions following Browning's talk, several points were brought up concerning the actual need for water. It was pointed out by Edward T. Behrens that many lots in Cypress have plenty of water in their wells, and that water shortages had occurred in California before. He could not see any reason to be afraid of a water shortage now.

In answer to these statements, Browning pointed out that his surveys were based on such things as actual subterranean water levels in this section, and the rates which the levels have dropped in the past years, combined with the economists' estimates of the growth in population in the near future. The added burden of new residents will be a dangerous drain on the water supply, and there is no sign of water coming from anywhere to relieve the situation.

During the question period, Mrs. B. R. Roberts, apparently at the meeting for the purpose of "heckling" the speakers, asked many questions concerning the organization she represents, the Homewood Mutual Water company of Buena Park. When asked by the ENTERPRISE if she had attended any previous meetings at which the MWD was discussed by the speakers present at Cypress, she admitted to having been to several. She also said that she had asked the speakers the same questions, and that she attended the Cypress meeting, ". . . to see what they were going to ask you."

Homewood Mutual has gone on record as opposing the acquisition of MWD water.

When Pat Arnold raised the objection of paying the estimated 65 cents per 100 dollars evaluation plus profits to a water company, Browning said the best way to get around that was to form your own water district and then you will absorb those profits locally.

Men Bowlers Fare Badly; Triangle Wins

Cypress bowlers couldn't find the pins Tuesday night in the men's league as both local teams took drubbings.

Merchants No. 1 met the league-leading White Elephant cafe of Buena Park and lost 3-1, which puts them one game behind the Merchants No. 2. The latter lost four points to Lalicker's dry goods of Buena Park.

The No. 2 team is now tied for third with Lalicker's, while the No. 1 outfit is in fourth.

Triangle in Second

Triangle drive-in moved into second place in the Women's handicap league on Wednesday night by topping Bee's duck inn of Buena Park 3 to 0. Dottie O'Neal was high individual with 167, while Zedith Hathcock followed with her highest game of the year at 154.

Miss Hummel Weds B. C. Boettger In Church Rites

Miss Sietske Hummel became the bride of Ben Cyril Boettger last Sunday afternoon when they exchanged vows in an elaborate wedding ceremony performed in the Zion Lutheran church in Anaheim. The bride was given in marriage by her father in the impressive rites solemnized by the Rev. L. E. Eifert, pastor of the church.

Immediately following, a reception was held in the social hall of the church with the parents of the young couple receiving the bridal couple and attendants.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jenne Hummel of 6801 Orange Ave. She was graduated from Anaheim Union school and attended Fullerton Junior college.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Boettger of 510 South Resh St. He was also graduated from Anaheim high schol and Fullerton Junior college. He is affiliated with his father, a contractor and builder.

On their return from a honeymoon at Las Vegas, Reno and Lake Tahoe, Mr. and Mrs. Boettger will make their home at 1215 West Lincoln Rd.

ADDED EQUIPMENT

It was decided to add another set of weights for the boys and girls in the weightlifters' organization with funds received through its public exhibition recently.

A mat is badly needed, but costs are prohibitive at this time.

Richard "Uncle Dick" Wallace donated two sets of boxing gloves and a head guard last week, which were gratefully received.

Practice nights at the schoolhouse have been changed to Tuesday and Thursday nights. The evenings formerly assigned interfered with other activities scheduled for the schoolhouse also.

I RISE TO REMARK
by John Phillips

This is a nice day in Washington and I had the thought of writing a cheerful little report and talking about the bluebird of peace and the first robin of governmental thrift. It would, of course, have been the FIRST of such robins!

I made the tactical mistake of going to breakfast with the rest of the California delegation. The bluebirds and the robins have flown away and the raven of western frustration is sitting on the bust of John C. Fremont. The reason for this decline from optimism is the factual consideration of what seems to be the attitude of the present administration towards the west, particularly California. Let me give examples:

(1) On Tuesday, Feb. 21, the Senate voted on one of the most fantastic water projects ever brought to the Congress. In the words of one congressman, "It proposed to use water which the state (Arizona) does not own, to lift that water twice as high as the Washington monument, convey it farther than from Washington to New York, at a cost to the federal treasury of three-quarters of a billion dollars, to irrigate 200,000 acres of privately owned, war-boom desert land which would not be required to repay the construction cost, for raising crops which are now surplus."

Three-Quarters Billion

There is one error in that statement. The cost would not be three-quarters of a billion, but twice that figure. That presumes the present figures are accurate. The Bureau of Reclamation has never been known to come that close to an estimate. Ask the men and women of the Coachella Valley! Remember that the taxpayers of all states would pay for this political gift to one state.

Remember also, in Southern California, that the water to be used is the water from the Colorado river, for the use of which California contracted with the federal government. It is the water which a million families in Los Angeles and San Diego and Long Beach, not to mention Santa Ana and other localities in the 22nd district, hopefully expect to use 10 years or so from now. It is therefore a vital issue in California.

California lost those Senate votes; the motion to recommit the bill, 30 to 56, and the motion on final passage 28 to 55. Five votes on amendments intervened on which we polled respectively 29, 31, 27, 28 and 31. Only five Democratic senators voted to support California. Three of them are consistently economy-minded, Byrd, O'Conor, Tydings. One was the senior senator from California, Downey. The fifth is a new senator, Douglas of Illinois, who has shown evidences of economy voting. No others. When you see the Democratic floor leader, committee chairmen, the recognized spokesmen for the administration, even the newly elected junior senator from New York, Lehman, leading floor support for the measure, we who work in this shop do not have to be hit in the face with a wet towel to recognize that this was an administration supported measure, which even California's own senior senator could not resist successfully. Californians must not only remember this day, and the votes, but also the names of our friends in the Senate.

New Concepts

Example (2) can be introduced by quoting the little item which appeared on page 52 of the influential weekly magazine, "U.S. News and World Report," published by David Lawrence, on December 20, 1949: "Under the new concepts of national defense, formulated by the dominating groups of military planners, the West Coast is considered 'expendable' while attention is centered on the East Coast and Europe. Russia is concentrating much of her growing naval power in the Pacific, while the U.S. is forced to disburse its dwindling power at sea, so there is not enough to go around."

It will be necessary for me to carry this into another weekly letter, so while you are thinking of the above, you might also contemplate the interesting fact that the UNDERSECRETARY OF STATE, a member of what is called the 'Little Cabinet,' (in these days of critical western problems) has never been in California!

Colonists Trounce Indians to Gain League Tie

By Bucky Green

The Anaheim Colonists really went all out to clinch a tie with the Santa Ana Saints last Friday night, when they trounced the Fullerton Indians 58-28.

A playoff game for the Sunset League championship was played Tuesday night in the Fullerton gym with the outcome unknown at the time of writing.

Coach Sam Keith's fast break tactics were too much for the hapless Indians as they ran up 17 points before the Braves hit the scoring column. Baskets by Denny, Bruce, Bonner, and Faulkner enabled the Anaheim five to rack up the big lead. Only free throws by Bob Staggs and Duane Pennington helped the Redskins' cause during the first period, giving the Colonists a 17-2 lead.

Coach Bud Dawson called on his reserves to give the Fullerton quintet that much needed fire to open the second period. Don Bryant opened the period with a beautiful set shot from 20 feet out. Elvin Boyd and Jack King followed with charity tosses. Again the Blue and Gold from Anaheim went to work, scoring 20 points. The entire starting five of Bonner, Helsing, Faulkner, Denny and Bruce dumped in the points without any trouble against the wobbly Fullerton defense. Bob Staggs came through with four fast points to end the first half with Anaheim holding a lopsided score of 37-10.

The second half showed no new hope for the weary Indians. Guards Joe Bruce and Dennis Denny each dropped in two baskets and a free throw by Helsing gave the Colonists a cool 50 points. Coach Keith sent in reserves to finish the period, but even they held down the fireless Warriors.

Bob Staggs started the final quarter with a set shot and a free throw to give the Warriors new life. Myers, King, and Jim Boyd all joined in on the scoring for a 11 point thrust. The Anaheim starting five returned to the lineup to add the final eight points of the game for a game ending score of 58-28.

Saturday morning, February 25, Scout Troop No. 76 from Cypress left on a camping trip to Idylewild. They went in a truck which was driven by the scoutmaster, Frank Troutman.

Thirty boys, including the scoutmaster, went on the trip. It was delayed a few hours because the truck stalled. The truck had to have a new fuel pump.

The scouts arrived at Idylewild about 5:30 p.m. in time to cook supper. They went on hikes up in the mountains and had lots of fun. Kenneth Arrent in Mrs. Lissner's room got lost Sunday morning. There were rangers, part of Cypress troop and also a troop from Long Beach looking for him. Kenneth was found at about 3 p.m.

The troop left for Cypress and returned at about six o'clock. Everybody had a wonderful time.

Veterans waiting for National Life insurance dividend checks are advised through the courtesy of the Cypress postmaster, Mrs. Ruth Pugh, that latest reports show that only the 500's have been reached. Several policy holders in the lower bracket digits indicated that they have not as yet received theirs.

Gray Whales Tell Whale of a Story

The Pacific gray whales, which winter in the lagoons of Lower California, may not be as punctual as the swallows of Capistrano in the arrival and departure time for their annual southward trek from the Bering Sea, but they do keep a very definite schedule.

So says Dr. Carl L. Hubbs, marine biologist at the University of California's Scripps Institute of Oceanography.

The vanguard of the whale caravan generally reaches waters in the La Jolla area about the middle of December, the marine biologist says. The southward migration generally continues until the middle of February. In March they head northward again. During the spring migration they stay farther out to sea and are not easily observed.

Gray whales reach a length of about 45 feet and prefer shallow waters along the coast. They spend their summers in Arctic waters and winter off the coast of Lower California. There they calve and mate for the next year in the shallow lagoons.

SWELL VACATION FOR W. C. MILLER

Pat Arnold can go uppish in his new Olds, Corby can look superior in his white aprons, Stan Doerr can dress his face up in a smile and Essex can duck his Variety store for a trip to Montana. But there are few Cypress folk who can take a Jewish vacation and W. C. Miller is one.

Of course, he came along to keep his mother company, but he is going the limit. First, he crawls down into a tiled bath and the attendant turns on the hot water. He lies there and boils, and after he is about the color of a lobster ready to serve, he is taken out of the bath and placed into one of those doorless cabinets with his head sticking out and he goes through the process of dehydration.

When he has reached the proper stage of de-liquidation, he is placed on a table and a "moosuer" gives him the works. This program constitutes a Jewish vacation.

Anyway, Corby, Pat and Stan don't leave Cypress to strut their stuff while Old Miller goes all the way to Elsinore. If you have nothing better to do, try a hot bath, a massage and cabinet de-liquidation. Might as well be a pluto-crat as a town slicker.
